

www.scottrobinson.co.uk

Scott Robinson

Experience

● UX Designer | Made to Engage, Belfast

June 2017 - Present

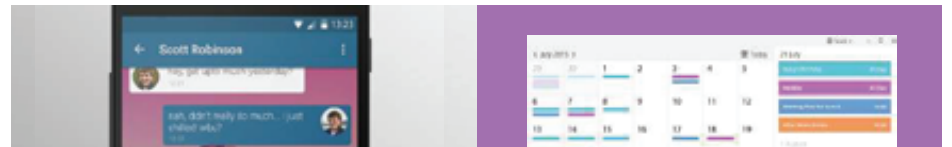

Made to Engage is a full-service design and development agency creating web solutions for clients such as Hornby, Energia Group, Irish Life, Easons and Permanent TSB.

As a User Experience designer I specialise in designing delightful experiences no matter how complex the use case or underlying system might be. I'm driven to always get to the heart of a problem and understand the effect on the people using a system or product. My work is always grounded in research and using an iterative design process, I involve the intended audience throughout.

● UX Designer | Freelance, Dublin

September 2016 - May 2017

As a freelance UX designer, I worked on a range of client projects for large and small, giving me the freedom to explore some new projects and ideas. It also gave me a taste of running my own business, with experience winning projects and maintaining good client relationships.

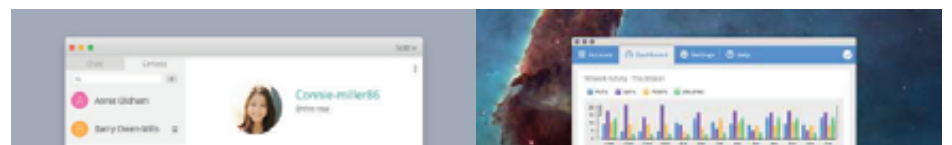

● UI Designer | MaidSafe, Scotland

February 2015 - Feb 2017

MaidSafe are pioneering a project to create a totally decentralised and secure computing network which aims to be an alternative and replacement for current online infrastructure.

Here, I had the opportunity to craft some new and exciting digital products, working on the conception, design and implementation of unique user experiences for apps and the web.

● Graphic Designer | Freelance

June 2012 - September 2013

Scott Robinson

User Experience Designer

hello@scottrobinson.co.uk

+353 (0) 87 625 7018

Education

BSc (Hons)

September 2010 - June 2014

Digital Interaction Design
University of Dundee

Skills

Methods

User centred design
User research
Workshops
User testing
Information architecture
Wireframing
Prototyping
Interaction design
User Interface Design
Graphic & Print Design
Photography

Tools

Adobe Creative Suite
Sketch
Axure
Illustrator
Adobe XD
InVision